Studying at Institut Teknologi Sepuluh Nopember (ITS) in Surabaya has been an enriching journey that began with a strong recommendation from my home university's coordinator.

Drawn to ITS for its robust academic reputation in engineering and technology, I found myself immersed in a learning environment renowned for its rigorous curriculum and practical approach to education. The campus itself made a striking first impression with its modern facilities, serene green spaces, and a diverse community that immediately made me feel welcomed. This supportive atmosphere not only facilitated my academic pursuits but also encouraged personal growth and cultural exploration. My experience at ITS has been marked by both academic rigor and cultural immersion.

As a student of Biomedical Engineering, I benefited immensely from a curriculum that balanced theoretical learning with hands-on applications. The faculty's commitment to excellence and their role as mentors have been instrumental in shaping my academic journey. Their guidance not only challenged me to expand my intellectual horizons but also provided me with practical skills crucial for my future career. The emphasis on technological integration and ample extracurricular opportunities further enhanced my overall learning experience, fostering a well-rounded development beyond academics. Beyond the academic realm, Surabaya and Indonesia as a whole offered me a profound cultural experience. The country's rich cultural heritage, coupled with its natural beauty, provided numerous opportunities for exploration and personal enrichment. Surabaya's strategic location and vibrant community offered me an intellectually stimulating environment where I could engage with diverse perspectives and experiences. Trips like the awe-inspiring sunrise over Mount Bromo and the immersive cultural camp in Muria Kudus allowed me to deepen my understanding of Indonesian culture and traditions firsthand. These experiences not only broadened my worldview but also strengthened my appreciation for cultural diversity and global interconnectedness.

In conclusion, my time at ITS has been transformative, equipping me with both the academic knowledge and cultural sensitivity necessary to thrive in today's interconnected world. I enthusiastically recommend ITS to prospective students seeking a comprehensive and enriching university experience, particularly in the fields of engineering and technology. The university's dedication to academic excellence, coupled with its supportive community and diverse opportunities for personal and professional growth, have left an indelible mark on my educational journey. As I reflect on my time in Surabaya, I am grateful for the invaluable experiences and friendships forged at ITS, which have prepared me to tackle future challenges with confidence and resilience.
