I know ITS from my home university. I chose ITS because it looked fun and because it was in Surabaya, which is a really big city in Indonesia, a country known for its beautiful nature. Surabaya itself is a nice place to be, despite being a bustling city, which can sometimes be both exciting and overwhelming. The people were all so friendly and willing to help. I tried learning basic Indonesian with the help of Google Translate and my buddies, which was confusing at first but became easier over time.

I would recommend studying at ITS because I had a fun time that I won't forget, and I think others would too. Everyone was so kind, I loved spending time with our buddies, especially during our free time, and just hanging around with them. It made a really nice bond between us. Studying at ITS was a different experience from what I'm used to. However, exploring new experiences can be rewarding.
